This unique camp will expose your child to a multitude of crafts. Young artists will immerse themselves creating one-of-a-kind masterpieces. An eclectic mix of artistic media such as clay, leather, tile, wood, nuts, vines, and recycled items keep interest and enthusiasm high! New projects every year! Sculpt a clay vase and then fill it with felt flowers that you make, construct a freeform star decoration using wire and beads, weave a basket or two, and work on visual balance creating a nature mobile. Send children in "old" clothing and shoes that can get a little dirty. Bring lunch and drink.

They will build the show while following the structure of a story where the fate of the earth hangs in the balance. Mad scientists, aliens, fun monsters, and more collide in this spoof of old sci-fi/monster flicks. The disciplines of the actor are first introduced through theatre games, teaching movement, voice, theatre terms, and listening to other actors and the audience. The week culminates in a performance for friends and family on Friday at 3:00 PM. Campers should bring a drink and lunch to camp. Instructor Joe Nowosielski (www.artstechsolutions.com).

ORCHESTRA CAMP

July 18 to 22, 9:00 AM to Noon, Hunterdon Central High School, entering grades 7 to 12, $185

This one-week camp will allow middle school and high school students who play orchestral instruments to experience, possibly for the first time, the feeling of sitting surrounded by a large group of instrumental musicians, making music in the same manner as the major symphonies of the world. The camp has become an important piece in the music education puzzle for students of orchestral instruments. The students work daily in small groups with professional coaches—players and teachers, members of the Hunterdon Symphony—and then join together as a full orchestra at the end of the morning under the direction of Hunterdon Symphony Conductor Lawrence Kursar. A performance takes place on the final day in the evening. Please note what instrument you play when you register. (sorry, no piano)

Space Nine Robot - The Space Nine Infra Red Robot is yours to make and take home. It is an eight-legged star explorer. THAT IS RIGHT-- 8 legs. It is controlled by its own infra red remote transmitter which you can control its moves and turns. Unlike most other robots, Space Nine can walk on rough surfaces, turn left and right, and even cross over rocks. You can create a moon surface for your Space Nine to explore. Better yet, your Space Nine Robot can dance and you control it. Play some music and watch it go. There are many steps in the assembly process. Learn how the different gears mesh and are driven by a motor. You will also get to build other robots working in small groups. Build a Sumo wrestler, have tug-of-war events, and make these robots do certain tasks for you. Robots in this portion of the workshop are not taken home. Be part of robot technology and have fun investigating the future effects it will have on our lives!
