Hunterdon Sheriff Fred Brown To Hold Child ID Program Across the County on September 24th and September 25th

Sheriff Fred W. Brown and the Hunterdon County Sheriff Department will be stationed across the County at community events throughout the County this weekend offering Child ID Cards to families.

The Child ID Program is a community service which provides an identification card that has all the important information on a child in one location that can be immediately provided to law enforcement if the situation arises.

Sheriff Brown noted that since he was elected Hunterdon County Sheriff, "my Office has provided this community service program to more than 400 children at numerous locations throughout Hunterdon County this year alone."

The card contains the participating child's color photograph and personal information that would be needed by law enforcement in order to help the child in the event of an emergency. No information is retained by the Sheriff's Office.

"Often in times of distress, key details can be overlooked or forgotten, and the Child ID program is a tool to help parents and guardians should an awful situation arise in which a child goes missing," Sheriff Brown noted.

This weekend, the Hunterdon County Sheriff's office will be at the following events, and Sheriff Brown recommends that members of the community with children visit one of their locations in order to receive a potentially lifesaving identification card.
